Report on event of Orientation of the new joining nursing staff 2025.

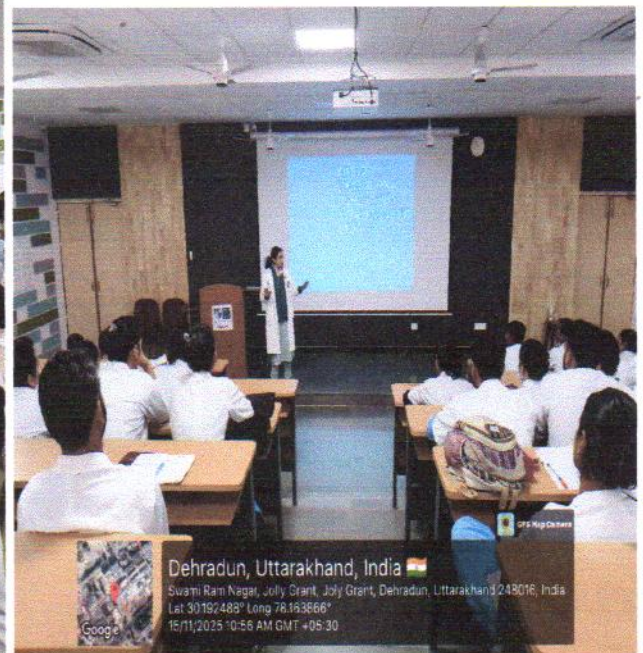

Topic: Blood collection and preservation. Anticoagulants and its role.

Venue: Charak, HLT-1, HIMS , SRHU,

Participants: 01 faculty & 60 Nursing staff (List attached)

The Department of Biochemistry conducted orientation of the new joining nursing staff on 15/11/2025 at the Charak, HLT-I on methods of blood collection and use of proper anticoagulants with vacutainers. The nursing staff was oriented to different methods of sample collection with the help of different vacutainers containing proper anticoagulants. The nursing staff was also informed of the pre analytical errors which constitute 60% to 70% of all errors in the lab and are due to negligence or carelessness at the collection point. They were also informed about the coding of caps of vacutainers according to the anticoagulants present and the tests to be performed with the blood samples.

The nursing staff was asked to contact the department/ Dr. Kiran Bhat, HOD Biochemistry for any queries related to the topic.
