Clinical Grand Round

Date : 24.01.2026
Day : Saturday

Time: 08:30 AM – 09:30 AM
Venue: Adi-Kailash Auditorium
(Near - Emergency Building)

First 10-minute Topic: "HPV DNA testing: a paradigm shift in cervical cancer screening"

Presenter: Dr Heena Khan, Assistant professor
Dept. Obstetrics and Gynaecology

Topic: "Salmonella osteomyelitis in adults- A rare entity"

Moderator: Dr. Digvijay Agarwal, Associate Professor, Dept. Orthopaedics

Abstract: Salmonella osteomyelitis is a rare manifestation of extraintestinal salmonellosis, accounting for less than 1% of all cases of osteomyelitis. It is classically associated with sickle cell disease and other immunocompromised states, but occurrence in immunocompetent individuals is uncommon and often leads to delayed diagnosis. We present a case of Salmonella osteomyelitis presenting with localized bone pain and minimal systemic symptoms, highlighting the diagnostic challenges associated with this rare entity. Magnetic resonance imaging aided early detection, while definitive diagnosis was established through microbiological culture. The patient was successfully managed with prolonged targeted antibiotic therapy, with good clinical outcome. This case underscores the importance of considering Salmonella as a potential etiological agent in osteomyelitis, even in the absence of traditional risk factors, to ensure timely diagnosis and appropriate management.
