Venue: Adi-Kailash Auditorium

First 10-minute Topic: “Quality Improvement in Healthcare setting”

Presenter: Dr. Chinmay Chetan, Associate Professor, Department of Neonatology

Topic: “Role of Telemedicine in Anaesthesia: Are we ready yet?”

Presenter: Dr. Kriti Bindal, Department of Anaesthesiology

Abstract:

Tele-anaesthesia is an emerging application of telemedicine that enables remote delivery of anaesthesia services throughout the peri-operative period, including pre-anaesthetic evaluation, intra-operative monitoring, postoperative care, critical care support, and pain management. Increasing disparities in access to safe anaesthesia, shortages of trained anaesthesiologists, and advances in digital health technologies have driven growing global interest in tele-anaesthesia. Studies have highlighted improved access to expert consultation, enhanced patient safety, and high patient and provider satisfaction. Technological advancements such as real-time audiovisual communication, remote physiological monitoring, electronic health records, and secure data transmission have made peri-operative tele-anaesthesia increasingly achievable.

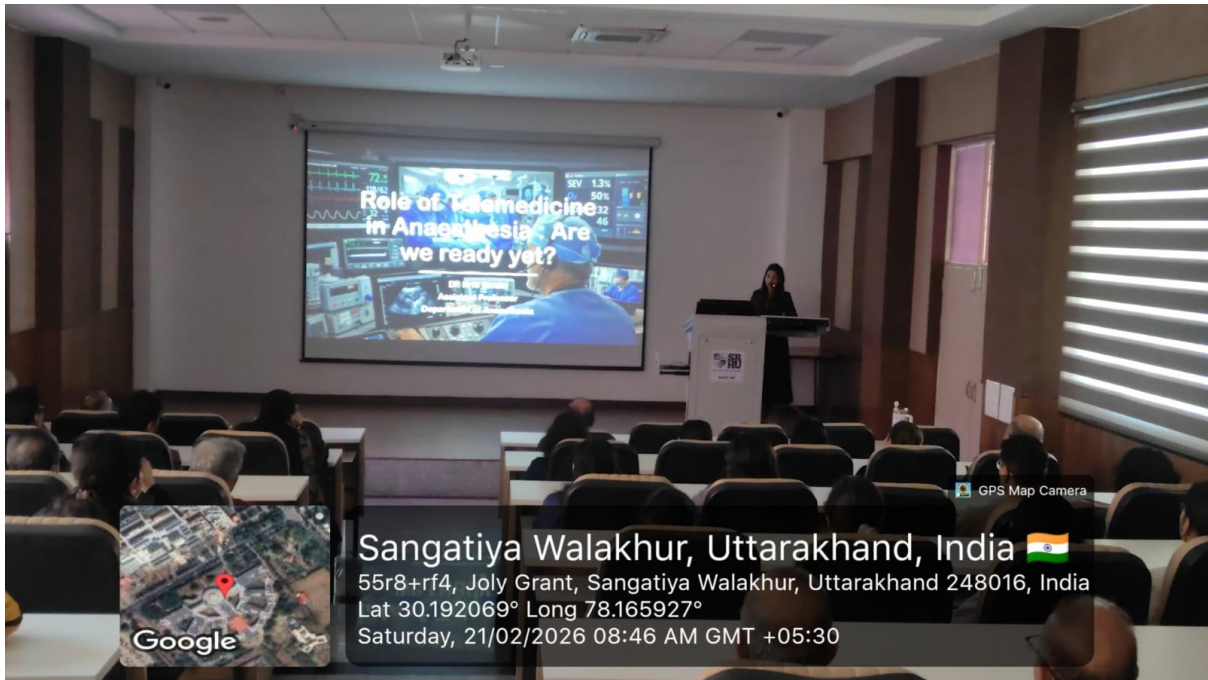

However, challenges related to infrastructure, training, medico-legal considerations, data security, and standardization of protocols persist. Overall, current evidence suggests that healthcare systems are progressively becoming ready to integrate tele-anaesthesia into peri-operative practice. With appropriate regulatory support and capacity building, tele-anaesthesia has the potential to bridge gaps in anaesthesia care delivery and improve peri-operative outcomes globally. This presentation demonstrates that by adapting these resources we can improve patient compliance and reduce same day cancellations.

All Faculty & Post Graduate Residents are required to attend the CME.
